

4 is four

3 is three

2 is two

1 is one

Folding Instructions

1. Fold in half the long way, along dotted line, keeping text on the outside.
2. Turn over. Fold both ends against the middle, along the thin dashed lines.
3. Fold in half again, along heavy dashed line, keeping numbered panels on the inside.

Need more booklets?

Visit www.tashatudorsociety.org to print more.

This activity was inspired by Tasha Tudor's 1956 Caldecott Honor counting book "1 is One" and was first launched in collaboration with Pettee Memorial Library and Molly Stark State Park in Wilmington, Vermont.

The Tasha Tudor Society is dedicated to inspiring and connecting people through the world created by author, illustrator and early American lifestyle icon, Tasha Tudor.

www.tashatudorsociety.org

My Counting Book

(your name)

Find the Items

To make your own counting book, find the following items in nature, then affix them to the numbered panels inside of this book.

- One blade of grass as long as your finger
- Two little wildflowers
- Three tiny leaves
- Four seeds

Not finding these items? Look around. What do you see? Make your own list!